Thank You

To the Parish of Grace Church
This is a note to thank you for your very generous donation during Lent. Our intent is to use these funds to shore up the foundation of our church. Considerable water damage has threatened the structural integrity of the undercroft. This issue needs to be addressed and your donation allows us to accomplish this. We look forward to a future opportunity to pay this generosity forward. With deep gratitude,
Christ Episcopal Church parish

Thank you for the contribution of the pulled pork. This was well-received by the inmates. God bless!

(Work on the tornado damage near Chetek continues, and is being done by inmates from the Flambeau Correctional Institution. SA is giving them lunch every day. This pork was already heated in the roaster for Art in the Park.)

Hi!

Although the art show was a total washout and, something of a disaster for me, I have to commend the volunteers who were there before the storm hit with constant updates on when, where, and how severe it was going to be. After the storm, while we were picking up, they came around with hot sandwiches. We were forced to leave the mangled frame of one of my EZ-ups behind, planning to empty the truck, and return to pick it up. When we returned, it was gone!

THANK YOU. There were 4 of us involved with my two booths. At no time, did we feel abandoned. I had just spent 2 days at a different show, different city where we DID feel abandoned. There were no volunteers, very little advertising, obviously as there were very few shoppers, and we had to buy our coffee! Thank you all again! Pass this along to the volunteers who tried to make the show a go. Sorry this poor show got rained out again, but there really isn't a way to deal with what Mother Nature throws at you except to prepare and duck!

From the Altar Guild

If you are a minister who serves at the altar (and wears an alb), it would be a big help to me if you took your alb home to launder it. You can wash it in hot water to get out the stains. And you can dry it in the dryer and hang immediately. No ironing is required. When you return the alb to the Sacristy, if you could put your little name tag on the hanger, I will know that it has been laundered. Thank you, in advance. MMarsh
